Action By Bud Corlew Saves Two

Due to the quick action of Bud Corlew of Grayling, a woman and her 14-month-old daughter are alive today. Corlew found the two in a car wash on James St. overcome by carbon monoxide fumes from their car, left running in the enclosed building, last Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Helene F. Crawford, 24, was found lying on the floor, beside the car, and her baby was found on the seat of the car. Local officials said their lives were saved by the action of Corlew who drove up to the car wash and went to investigate when he saw no action inside the building although it was plain that a car was inside.

When Corlew opened the door he found Mrs. Crawford unconscious where she had collapsed beside the car. When he opened the car door to turn off the engine he discovered the baby unconscious on the seat.

Corlew turned the key and grabbed the baby. He pulled the mother into the fresh air, officers said.

He later told Police Chief Harold Hatfield he could detect no sign of breathing in either but began giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to the baby. The baby quickly revived and he gave his attention to the mother.

He reported that the woman began breathing after he had given her mouth-to-mouth resuscitation but that the breathing stopped again. He reported his efforts and the breathing resumed.

In the meantime, he had alerted others to get help. City Police, the Crawford County Sheriff's ambulance and the city fire department all answered the call.

The mother and daughter were rushed to Mercy Hospital. They were released from the hospital the following day.

Mrs. Crawford is here from Texas with her husband, Jerry Crawford, who works for an oil drilling firm.

Chief Hatfield said it appears that Mrs. Crawford went into the car wash and closed the door behind her and left the motor running while she was washing the car.

It was not known how long she had been in the enclosure, but the car had been washed and the surface was dry when she and the baby were found, officers said.

With a 91-63 romp over the East Jordan Red Devils on the local court, coach Tom St. Germain's Vikings kept pace with the Pellston Hornets for a tie for first place in the Northern Lower Michigan League.

Pellston with a 89-59 win over Grayling's 72 standing in the league, to make it a two team race, as Harbor Springs was upped by the Onaway Cardinals 33-79, and are now 5-3. Rounding out league action, Kalkaska handed the Manelona Ironmen their ninth straight defeat, 71-61.

This Friday evening, the Vikings will be on the road as they travel to Harbor Springs for an all-important game with the Rams.

As the stretch drive begins for league laurels, three big games appear on the schedule for the Vikings, this Friday at Harbor,

Feb. 5 against Onaway here, and the long trek north for a get even-contest with the Pellston Hornets, Feb. 26.

With a 21-16 first quarter advantage over the East Jordan Red Devils, the game was never in doubt, with the Vikings holding a 48-33 lead at halftime, following a 27-17 count in the second period.

The final two quarters went to the Vikings as they scored 43 points to 30 for the visitors, to win going away. The Vikings hit on 37 field goals and an amazing 17 of 20 from the free throw lane. The Red Devils canned 24 from the field and hit for 15 of 28 charity tosses.

Pacing coach St. Germain's cagers, was Jim Tobin, pint size, floor general, as he swished the nets for 26 points on 7 field goals and canned 12 of 13 free throw attempts.

Also in double figures for the Vikings were, Terry Fitzpatrick with 17 points, on an 8-1 count, and Kim Parkinson with 16 on 8 buckets.

Rounding out the Vikings' scoring, Wayne Westervelt tallied 9, Bill Millikin 8, Dan McIsaac 6, Bill Weideman, Bob Miller and Joe Elenbaas with 3 points each.

Fitzpatrick again led the rebounders as he hauled down 19 off the boards. Westervelt picked off 10, McIsaac 14, Parkinson 9 and Tobin 8.

Coach St. Germain stated Monday, he feels his young cagers are coming along real fine. Parkinson played an outstanding game for us Friday night, he said.

St. Germain's starters consist of two juniors, two sophomores and a freshman.

The Grayling JV's, under coach Howard Licht, made it a complete victory night, as his little cagers took the measure of the little Red Devils, 61-49.

Coach Licht had three players hitting in double figures, led by Chris Dunkley with 16 on a 7-2 count, Burt Kaiser, 14, on 7 buckets and Joe Shepler with 13 on 5-3.

Also hitting the scoring column were, Bill Horning with 8, Dale Melroy 6, Mike Hoffman and Dennis Morgan with 2 each.

Grayling held a 32-18 first half advantage, with the little Red Devils taking the second half, 31-29, which was too little and too late. The JV's hit on 27 field goals to East Jordan's 20, and made good on 7 of 19 free throws to the visitors 9 of 20.

These beneficiaries were receiving $114,100.00 monthly and $1,369,200.00 annually. In the 13 county Northwestern Michigan Area serviced by the Traverse City office 35,585 persons were receiving $41,028,000.00 annually.

In Crawford County there are 585 retired workers 62 or older and 63 younger disabled workers. There are 234 dependents (See Social Security on page 10)

NO CHANCE TO BLOCK — An unidentified East Jordan player makes a futile attempt to block this jump shot by Terry Fitzpatrick, 34, Viking center. Fitzpatrick scored 17 points and picked off 19 rebounds in the win over the Red Devils. Other Vikings shown are, Wayne Westervelt, 24, and Jim Tobin, 32.

Valdick Receives Air Medal and Bronze Star

Terry D. Valdick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Valdick of Grayling, was awarded the Air Medal with "V" Device for service in the Republic of Vietnam by direction of the President of the United States.

He received the medal "for heroism while participating in aerial flight on November 15, 1970. Specialist Valdick distinguished himself while serving as crew chief aboard an OH-6A light observation helicopter during a combat mission mission near Fire support Base Bradley. While making enemy targets, Specialist Valdick's aircraft was under intense hostile fire. Continue to make low level passes to mark the targets for engagement by an aerial artillery section. Specialist Valdick returned accurate suppressive fire. His actions contributed immeasurably to the destruction of a large enemy bunker complex and in silencing numerous enemy weapons. Specialist Valdick's personal bravery and devotion to duty were in keeping with the highest traditions of the military service and reflect great credit upon himself, his unit, and the United States Army."

He also received the Bronze Star for service in Vietnam and returned to his home this month, having completed his tour of duty.

State Police Give Tips To Snowmobilers

Last year, 19 persons were killed in snowmobile accidents, 13 of these in collisions with autos on the highways. Nearly 2000 persons were injured in accidents involving snowmobile operation. In addition to this, police agencies are swamped with calls dealing with a variety of snowmobile violations, including damage to property, trespass, noisy machines and late hours of operation in residential areas.

Sgt. Thomas Graham of the Michigan State Police advises that although the calls being received at police switchboards are not indicative of all snowmobile operators, the minority that are causing these complaints are giving responsible operators a bad name. This small minority could cause stiffer legislation for snowmobile operating in this State, thereby taking away much of the freedom snowmobilers now enjoy.

Sgt. Graham requests that snowmobilers operate their machines in a reasonable manner, with care for the rights and privileges of others.

Here are a few tips that will make snowmobiling safer for you and others.

Don't operate on streets or highways except to cross them or to cross bridges and culverts.

Drive at a reasonable rate of speed, having regard for existing conditions.

Be certain headlights and tail lights are in proper working order.

Don't trespass on private property, ask permission before operating on private lands.

If you let your youngsters operate your machine, make certain they are supervised.

Be certain they know how to operate the snowmobile well.

Finally, if you drink — don't drive — applies to snowmobile operators as well as drivers of autos. Driving should be a full-time occupation and requires all of your faculties for safe operation.

If all these rules were followed, snowmobiling could be better sport for operators and much more tolerable to the general public.

Change Name

Effective Jan. 1, 1971, the name of International Homes will be changed to Evans International Homes, it was announced by Martin Rosen, general manager of the Minneapolis-based producer of customized pre-cut homes.

The company has been a division of Evans Products Company, Portland, Ore., housing and building materials company, for the past five years.

Rosen explained that the new name will give the company a closer identification with its parent firm.

Evans International Homes now operates in 21 states between Pennsylvania on the East and Colorado on the West. Thirty-seven representatives cover this territory.

Evans Products is engaged in a wide variety of basic industries, including home building, plywood and lumber manufacturing, railroad equipment manufacturing, lumber and building supply retailing, and foundries. The Evans headquarters are located at Portland, Ore.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

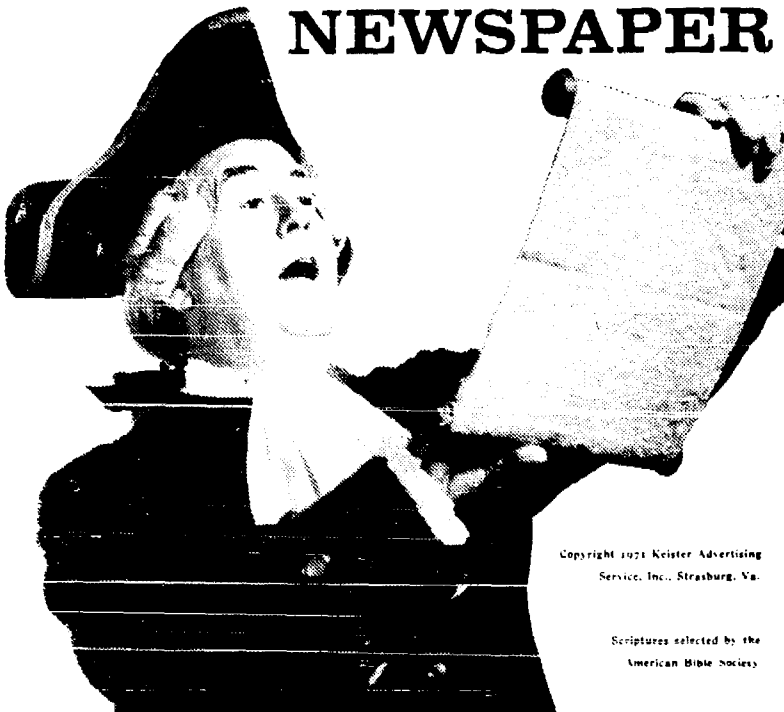

If ever a man's job became obsolete, it was this fellow's. And what a job it was. He learned everything first, then imparted the news to others. If he had a good memory, he was usually the best informed man in town. Who else read every release and then shouted it all over town? He also was the principal advertising medium for the tradespeople and shopkeepers. He announced their products, services and special sales.

And in most communities the town crier reminded men of the approach of the Sabbath, urging them to be present for worship at the appointed hour in the churches of the community.

The newspaper made the town crier a has-been. It has taken over all his functions and performed them more efficiently. That includes reminding men of the day of worship, and, through advertisements such as this, urging us to worship.

You see one thing hasn't changed. Man's need for God!

"The Making of A Surgeon"

Anyone who wonders why the output of doctors from medical schools has lagged behind the explosive growth in health care demands should read the book, "The Making of a Surgeon," by William A. Nolen, M.D., as it was condensed in The Reader's Digest.

To begin with, the layman may be shocked to learn that graduating from medical school is but the first step in the life of a surgeon. It requires five years to turn an inexperienced doctor, just out of Medical school, into a practicing surgeon. In a brief introduction, The Reader's Digest says, "They are exhausting years, filled with tension and crisis — plus, fortunately, occasional moments of comic relief." The author of the book takes the reader through years of internship during which textbook studies and medical theory become stark reality in the life and death arena of the operating room. He tells how, as the moment approaches, to enter the work-a-day world of a surgeon, he finds that "a man never truly becomes a surgeon. He is, rather, continuously in the process of becoming one. I knew then, as I know now, that after every operation I performed, every decision I made, every crisis I met, I would be a bit more of a surgeon than I had been."

In leaving the hospital, where he concluded his internship, the author looked back on the years that it took to make him a competent surgeon. He felt, "They had been wearing, physically and emotionally, and I knew I could never go through them again." Fortunately, there will always be those who will have the inclination and the capacity to go through the grueling course of becoming a member of the medical profession. But, "The Making of a Surgeon," makes one fact abundantly clear — doctors are not made overnight.

Groundhog Day

For those who are not ready to accept the judgment of weather satellites and all the other scientific paraphernalia of projecting the weather, that time-honored prophet of the elements — the groundhog — will soon make his appearance. February 2 is the critical day. If the old fellow sees his shadow, he goes underground for six more weeks of winter. Whether the groundhog's performance has ever been studied officially by a government body is unknown, and it would probably make very little difference to the groundhog and his faithful followers if it had.

Groundhog Day is one of those rites that demonstrates the essential simplicity of human nature — a simplicity that instinctively rebels when confronted with the enigma of the scientific answer. Most of us are happy with the groundhog's way of doing business, but somehow we have to find room in our minds to accommodate knowledge that will forever be beyond the reach of the poor old groundhog. Just as a precaution, however, it might be a good idea to see how the groundhog fares with his shadow on February 2. It always pays to be on the safe side.

Linotype, Once Savior of Printing, Outstripped by Faster Electronics

Washington — An era ends in February when production of Linotype machines ceases in the United States.

The development of computer-directed photographic and electronic printing equipment has led to fewer orders for the machine that once revolutionized printing.

Invented by a German immigrant in 1884, the Linotype had almost as great an impact on the printed word as did Gutenberg's movable type nearly 500 years earlier.

Spurred Publishing
Linotype machines helped make mass circulation newspapers possible, the National Geographic Society says. They spurred a dramatic growth of publishing, with an accompanying rise in literacy.

For centuries, the Chinese had used wooden type. In most of the world, however, books were copied individually by scribes until Johann Gutenberg unveiled his metal type in Strasbourg in 1440.

Printing spread rapidly, bringing books within reach of many who previously could not afford them. Type was still being set by hand in the 18th century, but hundreds of inventors sought ways of speeding the process.

The Chadwick Typesetter, developed around 1775, mechanically assembled type for printing, but it was too awkward.

Possibly the most elaborate typesetting device of all was the Pantotype, used in Paris in 1840. It required a crew of seven men.

As one man punched a keyboard to set the type, another spaced out the lines of type and two more operated the apparatus that distributed the type. Two others kept the machine supplied with type, while one man turned a hand crank to keep the contraption running.

Inventions Unhinged Examiner
At least 125 inventors sought patents for mechanical methods of typesetting in the United States. A contemporary observer reported that "the patent examiners sat for years over the drawings, so that one of them even lost his reason."

Mark Twain lost more than $100,000 backing an unsuccessful effort to design a machine that could set type.

In 1876 Ottmar Mergenthaler, a 22-year-old machinist in Baltimore, was assigned to make an inventor's model of a machine that was supposed to punch type from papier-mache.

It didn't work. But with financial aid from the would-be inventor, he worked for eight years and found the solution.

Where earlier machines worked with type that already had been cast, Mergenthaler's key-board lined up a series of type molds that then were pressed against a molten alloy. The metal slug cooled almost instantly and the line of type was deposited on a tray.

Mergenthaler demonstrated his Linotype machine in 1884. Two years later an improved model was installed at the New York Tribune, the first newspaper to be set by Linotype.

Today, more than 800 languages and dialects around the world are set by Linotype. Parts for the thousands of machines still clattering away will continue to be made in plants overseas.

Aliens Must Register By End of January

Mr. Thomas M. Pederson of the Detroit, Mich. Immigration and Naturalization Service has again reminded all aliens to report their addresses during January.

Cards with which to make the reports are available at Post Offices and offices of the Immigration and Naturalization Service throughout the country. The reports must be submitted to one of those offices.

Parents or guardians submit reports for alien children under 14 years of age.

Mr. Pederson urges all aliens to report before the end of January, as willful failure to do so may lead to serious penalties.

Mr. Pederson would like to caution all aliens, as well as employers, that the issuance of a Social Security Account Card to an alien is not evidence of permission to work in the United States. Only those aliens lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence (immigrants) and those aliens temporarily in the United States (nonimmigrants) who have been authorized by the Service to take employment may work in this country.

CARD OF THANKS
 To Whom It May Concern,
 We would like to thank the person who returned the papers and some of the money from Mark Nelson's wallet, which was lost recently. It is certainly appreciated as Mark needed the money for his college expenses.

Thought For Food

Since roasts do continue to cook after removal from the oven, it is best to remove them when the thermometer registers about 5 degrees F. below the temperature of doneness desired. Remove strings and with a sharp knife remove backbone from roast before carving.

For cinnamon apples, peel, core and cut four tart apples into eighths. Add 2 cups water, 1 cup sugar, and juice of 2 lemons. Simmer until apples are tender. Add 2 tablespoons red cinnamon candies; stir until candies dissolve. Serve warm. Serves 4.

For a quick salad, toss 1 cup shredded cabbage with 1 tablespoon vinegar blended with 1 teaspoon mayonnaise. Add dash each celery salt and pepper.

Need a tasty parsley sauce? Combine and heat 1 can condensed cream of celery soup, 1/2 cup milk, and 1 tablespoon parsley.

SIC 'EM... Sp 4 Michael Adams is nearly thrown from his feet as he wards off an attack by Rusty, a sentry dog at Ft. Carson, Colo. Rusty's handler is Sgt. Robert Miller. The sentry dog presents the demonstration as part of a continuing program to familiarize Ft. Carson troops with the functions and capabilities of the canine MP's. Adams is from St. Louis, Mo., Miller from Storm Lake, Iowa.

Jack Pine's Stump

As I write this, it is Monday. Monday. What a terrible way to spend one seventh of your life.

— JP —
As we approach Winter Carnival time again, I am reminded of "the old days" when Grayling had the only Winter Carnival in Michigan. It all started right here, and they used to run special trains from Detroit and Chicago. The trains stayed here for the whole weekend. It was a real carnival in those hungry days of the late thirties. Merchants sponsored kids who made snow sculptures in front of the business places on Michigan Avenue, and everyone seemed to take a lot of pride in making the town look good. Not too much money was spent, but a lot of effort and genuine, warmhearted cooperation made Grayling THE place to come on Carnival Weekend.

— JP —
Now almost every northern town is in on the act and "important" people in Lansing are kept running back and forth crowning winter "Queens" of every sort. But the biggest and best is still right here in Grayling, supported and promoted by local people. And on Thursday, Feb. 11, this year's festivities will start with a "Kick-Off Dinner" at Bear Mountain Resort. A mammoth smorgasbord, followed by dancing and a torchlight parade by skiers snaking down Bear Mountain. Its going to be a big affair, and admittance is by reservation only. The price is $6, a dollar of which goes to the Pageant Committee to help stage the weekend events. Reservations are limited, but can be obtained as long as they last from the Chamber of Commerce Office, Bear Mountain Resort or any member of the Pageant Committee.

— JP —
Since everyone seems to be getting back into the Environment act these days, I guess I will too. But I have some good news to report. It would seem that The Vistron Corporation, a subsidiary of Standard Oil of Ohio, has developed a plastic bottle which burns to a crumbly ash when lighted. Its smoke doesn't change the chemical nature of incinerator smoke. The material is transparent as glass and one fifth as heavy. Better yet, the bottle has been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use in food and beverage containers. So there is a bright light shining in all the smoke and litter. Hooray!

— JP —
Overheard an eighteen year old recently complaining because our State Legislature refused to grant 18 year olds the right to vote in State elections, even though they can vote in National elections. I agree with him when he said it was a step backwards — into the Nineteenth Century. I also agree with him when he said, "You know if we could vote next month, there wouldn't be a kid in school who wouldn't vote for the new school." I repeated this conversation to a man later and he commented, "Sure he wants a new school. He doesn't have to pay for it." That's about as silly an argument as I ever heard. Sure, the kids will pay for it; many are wage earners now. Many will stay here, make their livings here — and pay for it. You betchum, they're going to pay for it. Just as we paid for ours. And since they're going to pay for it, they ought to be able to vote for it.

— JP —
A friendly philosopher once said "The middle of the road may not be the most exciting place to be, but at least you'll be further from the ditch — on either side." My only question is what's the matter with a ditch? They're more interesting, and very nice places to be when someone is shooting at you.

— JP —
Stupid question: News reports say that North Vietnamese are in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, where they have managed to pretty well tie up National governments. How is it that the military forces of one half of Vietnam can cause so much havoc with those three governments (who are being helped by the USA) and still lose soldiers at a reported annual rate of over a thousand a week in South Vietnam alone? Who's kidding who? Like I said, it's probably a stupid question. But then it's Monday.

USE AVALANCHE WANT ADS

"If It Fitz . . ."
Give That Man
A Medal

By Jim Fitzgerald

Two dogs were recently awarded Bronze Star medals "for meritorious service" against hostile forces in Viet Nam. Arf, arf, said Sandy.

The magnificent hoax was pulled off by some soldiers to demonstrate that the wholesale awarding of medals has cheapened their value to the point where a true hero is reluctant to accept one. Military brass hats exchange medals like peanuts, competing to see which can wear the most ribbons on his manly chest. The generals also like to see their rugged faces reflected in the medals hanging on their troops. Everyone knows the dumb enlisted man couldn't earn an award without the inspiring leadership of General Chicken who phones brave orders to the front from his penthouse foxhole.

I remember how it was in 1945 . . . After over two years in the army, I ended up at Camp Polk, La., still a huck private. I was made an assistant to a colonel who was also a chaplain, in that order. My main job was to drive him once a week to the other side of camp where he gave patriotic-Christian sermons to the Negro soldiers who were not allowed in the camp's main church unless they were carrying brooms.

"I can't have any huck private working for me," the colonel said. Overnight I became a corporal. Three months later I was a sergeant.

One day it was announced there would soon be a big parade and ceremony at which a visiting general would pin medals on deserving enlisted men.

"Write yourself up for a Legion of Merit," the colonel ordered.

That was the highest award given for outstanding service performed under non-combat conditions.

"Can I get that for changing my typewriter ribbon faithfully every week whether it needs it or not?" I asked him.

"You can think of something better than that," the colonel grumped. "I've never had an assistant who didn't win a medal and I don't want to start now."

Right here, because there are still people around who remember, I'd better admit I was a lousy chaplain's assistant. The awful truth is that my nickname around camp was The Drunken Padre. When the chaplain thought I was out posting church notices, I was actually drinking beer in the sergeants' club or shooting pool in the day room. My being assistant to a chaplain was generally regarded as similar to Al Capone being secretary of the treasury.

I really didn't care much about getting a medal. All I wanted was a discharge which was due in a few months. So I put pickled tongue in cheek and wrote how I had must distinguished myself at Camp Polk, thus earning the Legion of Merit.

That winter it had been ordered that every jeep in camp switched to winter tires. They meant switch tires, not wheels. You had to get a crowbar, or whatever, and pry four tires off the rims, then pry four others on. That was work to which I was unaccustomed.

There were something like 1,500 jeeps in camp. By Christmas, 1,499 had switched tires. My jeep was the lone exception. The chaplain never noticed because he always looked up, straining to see how many officers in heaven out-ranked him.

This shirking was not accomplished easily. I had to drive the other way whenever an MP vehicle came into sight. I had to park behind trees. Most of all, I had to procrastinate skillfully whenever the motor pool captain wanted to know when I was going to change those "S&K" tires. I usually told him I'd do it tomorrow but today I had to drive the chaplain to chapel.

"I'd change them now but I don't want to interfere with every soldier's right to worship as he sees fit," I would explain. Captains never argued with generals or God. The tires were never switched.

Unfortunately, the colonel didn't agree that this devotion to dereliction was worth the Legion of Merit. He dropped my write-up into his sinner file and never mentioned the subject again.

And I hadn't thought about the colonel for 25 years, until I read about those two dogs getting Bronze Star medals. If they had been his dogs, it wouldn't have been a hoax.

Onward and Upward.

Crawford-Rescommon Land Use Studies

By Willard Boeserman
County Extension Director

Kenneth Nepper, District Conservationist and myself presented soil and land use studies at the Roscommon County Planning Commission meeting Monday, Jan. 18.

Nepper developed a soils association map which is the foundation of a land use policy. An overlay showed the present land use and another showed the state owned land.

I talked about land use regulations in relationship to the present land use and soil type.

The meeting was held in the Richfield Township Hall in St. Helen.

The Grayling-Crawford Regional Planning District for a similar soil association study. This will be part of their county land use plan.

Other business at the Grayling-Crawford Regional Planning Commission was three requests for zoning changes and the perennial problem of solid waste.

Deadline For W-2 Forms

Detroit, Mich. — The deadline for employers to give employees their 1970 W-2 forms is Monday, Feb. 1, 1971, Thomas A. Cardoza, District Director of Internal Revenue for Michigan, said today.

The form should show earnings, income tax withheld and Social Security information.

A copy of the W-2 from each employer has to be filed by the employee with his income tax return. Therefore, it is important that employers furnish W-2's to their employees by the date required to permit timely preparation and filing of employee's tax returns.

Almanack

A Reason Or An Excuse

by Richard L. Milliman

Being a member of the over-30 generation, I was brought up short the other day by something I read in the paper.

In federal court in Detroit, three White Panthers face trial on a charge of conspiring to bomb the Ann Arbor office of the CIA back in 1968.

Defense attorneys were attempting to include 18-year-olds on the jury, apparently believing their clients would get a more sympathetic hearing from a younger jury.

Among the witnesses cited in the newspaper article appearing to argue in favor of rejuvenating the prospective jury panel was one Allen Ginsberg of New York, identified as a poet.

Ginsberg was quoted as saying that "no man alive under the age of 30 can expect a peaceful world to live in beyond the year 2000."

Well, so far, so good. Hardly a man who has lived in America in the last 200 years has been able to expect a peaceful world all during his lifetime. War somewhere in the world is almost part of existence.

But the second claim of Poet Ginsberg was what really troubled me.

Arguing that opinions of persons under 29 differ significantly from those of older Americans, Ginsberg was quoted as citing the reason that young people have "the realization that for the first time there is a whole generation trapped on an earth that may be doomed.

Now that, folks, is quite an indictment. We have all heard it before, in one form or another, and why Mr. Ginsberg's verbalization of the doomed planet theory should strike such a chord in my mind. I do not know. But it did.

Do people indeed believe that the planet earth is doomed, in our lifetime — or at the most, in the lifetimes of my children?

Have war, pollution and over-population been set on the unchangeable course that inevitably must lead to the extermination of human life?

Mr. Ginsberg seems to argue that society has unleashed the forces of destruction that will lead to doom in the immediate future, and that the realization of this impending doom is part and parcel of the consciousness of the younger generations.

Let us grant, for a moment, that Mr. Ginsberg is right in this theory of doom. And we have heard it from many other sources, with much better credentials than Allen Ginsberg.

If this is true, and if the young people of today have accepted this view, then it provides the explanation for so many activities of the under-30 generation that otherwise are unexplainable.

But is this a reason . . . or an excuse?

If you accept as fact that all life is to end in the foreseeable future — even in many cases with a terminal date set — then your approach to life and to living would be much different than if you believed in a future — any future at all.

I would have to challenge the Ginsberg syndrome on two counts:

1. I am not ready to accept the argument that earth is doomed; it seems to me that the same technological advances, combined with human failings, which have unleashed upon us the terrible problems the earth faces — and some of the problems are indeed gargantuan — should be capable of righting the wrongs they helped create.

2. I am not ready to accept the argument that all persons under 29 — or even a large number of them — have succumbed to the inevitability of imminent doom. Admitting that I don't regularly dialogue with many 18 or 19 year olds, I still believe most members of the younger generation to be competent, intelligent, responsible individuals who look forward to contributing their parts to life for many, many years.

And as to making the White Panther jury younger, I'd say to go ahead. From a true cross-section of 18-29 year olds, I think you'd get the same type of decision on innocence or guilt you'd get from a past-30 jury.

Letters To The Editor

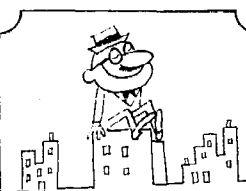

To The Editor:
Avalanche
Dear Sir:

This complaint is probably a little late in coming, as they have already set the rules for snowmobiles in the City of Grayling.

But, as a taxpayer, I feel that when my rights are infringed upon by noise and disturbance to my recreation unit, continuously by inconsiderate snowmobile operators, it is time to set a time limit to operate these machines within the city limits. Let's say 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. time limit within the city limits. Let's have a little of that old "Respect Thy Neighbor" rule. Recreation is good as long as it isn't at the expense of others peace of mind.

Let's move these machines out on the trails where they belong and not in your neighbors front door.

Today's Good News

Man's Plight Stirs GIs

SAIGON (AP) — An angry supply officer organized a seven-hour fund drive in his unit that raised $106.10 to help Floyd Rice keep his eyeglasses and hearing aid.

The hearing aid company fitted Rice three weeks ago. It told the 70-year-old resident of a Grants Pass, Ore., nursing home the devices would be repossessed today unless he could come up with $125 of the $260 cost as a down payment.

He had planned to sell some property for the money, but the sale was held up and nurses at the home began a collection to help him.

"I read the story in Stars and Stripes," said Capt. Joe LaGrow 25, of Grayling, Mich. "I told the sergeant I'd put in $10 if he'd match it, and the next thing I knew it snowballed."

LaGrow said he clipped the story from the military newspaper pasted it on an envelope and put his $10 and the sawbuck from Sgt. Nino Schepis, 37, of Paris, Tex. inside. Then he canvassed the officers of the Army's Signal Support Agency at Long Binh and Schepis sought donations from the enlisted men.

Their collection lasted from 4 p.m. to 11 p.m. Monday. They wired the money via the American Red Cross in time for today's deadline.

LaGrow said he felt sorry for Rice but "actually I was more irritated at the company repossessing the hearing aid and glasses." He said 34 GIs contributed, all from the signal unit's headquarters section.

EDITOR'S NOTE — The above article was clipped out of the Clearwater Sun, Florida by Mrs. Beatrice Olson and sent to the Avalanche. We also received a clipping of the same story from G. Ervin Hodge former Grayling resident, of Lakewood, Calif., that appeared in the Long Beach Press - Telegram. The story carries an Associated Press dateline, and undoubtedly has appeared throughout the United States. For those who missed it in the daily papers, we are happy to reprint it for our readers.

WHEREAS, The Mackinaw Gateway is the most efficient and best service route for rail traffic originating or terminating in the Northwestern United States to and from areas in southern Michigan, Ohio and Eastern United States, and

WHEREAS, the closing of the Mackinaw Gateway will have a depressant effect upon Michigan's economy & will adversely affect shippers directly or indirectly, since the Mackinaw Gateway is the short mileage gateway over which rates are constructed and elimination of this gateway would tend in the long run to push up rail rates or make it difficult to reduce rates or to construct new rates at a level at which traffic could be moved economically, and

WHEREAS, the elimination of the Mackinaw Gateway would cause a deterioration of service on the Penn Central and Soo Line Railroads leading to the gateway and would no doubt, in the very near future, lead to the abandonment of an estimated 120 miles of track and

WHEREAS, the abandonment of the car ferry operations at the Straits of Mackinac would have an adverse effect on up to 200 railroad employees as well as upon the seamen working on the car ferry, the Chief Wawatam, and

WHEREAS, Michigan is already encountering one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation and abandonment of the car ferry would only aggravate this condition,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Crawford County Board of Commissioners publicly announces that it is opposed to the abandonment of the Mackinac Car Ferry, since abandonment will not be in the best interest of the public and public need and necessity requires retention of this valuable and necessary car ferry service.

I.C.C. Finance Docket 26303 Mackinac Car Ferry Discontinuance

WHEREAS, on August 10, 1970, the Mackinac Transportation Company, a car ferry jointly owned and operated by the Penn Central and Soo Line Railroads, which hauls railroad cars across the Straits of Mackinac, applied to discontinue operations, and

WHEREAS, this application, if allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, will adversely affect the economic growth of the eastern half of the Upper Peninsula as well as the northern half of the Lower Peninsula and will for all practical rail purposes isolate the two great peninsulas of Michigan from each other, and

WHEREAS, The Mackinaw Gateway is the most efficient and best service route for rail traffic originating or terminating in the Northwestern United States to and from areas in southern Michigan, Ohio and Eastern United States, and

WHEREAS, the closing of the Mackinaw Gateway will have a depressant effect upon Michigan's economy & will adversely affect shippers directly or indirectly, since the Mackinaw Gateway is the short mileage gateway over which rates are constructed and elimination of this gateway would tend in the long run to push up rail rates or make it difficult to reduce rates or to construct new rates at a level at which traffic could be moved economically, and

WHEREAS, the elimination of the Mackinaw Gateway would cause a deterioration of service on the Penn Central and Soo Line Railroads leading to the gateway and would no doubt, in the very near future, lead to the abandonment of an estimated 120 miles of track and

WHEREAS, the abandonment of the car ferry operations at the Straits of Mackinac would have an adverse effect on up to 200 railroad employees as well as upon the seamen working on the car ferry, the Chief Wawatam, and

WHEREAS, Michigan is already encountering one of the highest unemployment rates in the nation and abandonment of the car ferry would only aggravate this condition,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Crawford County Board of Commissioners publicly announces that it is opposed to the abandonment of the Mackinac Car Ferry, since abandonment will not be in the best interest of the public and public need and necessity requires retention of this valuable and necessary car ferry service.

Okay VA Loans To Purchase Mobile Homes

For the first time in the history of GI Bills, veterans may now purchase mobile homes with a VA loan guaranty. Beginning December 22 at Veterans Administration will make a home loan guarantee the same as for conventional housing.

Robert M. Fitzgerald, Director of the Michigan Regional Office of the VA in Detroit, said the new law was signed by the President on October 23 effective on December 22. Under three GI Bills providing benefits for veterans which date back to World War II, no such provisions were available.

The Veterans Housing Act of 1970 allows loans on mobile homes and condominiums for the first time, and also allows GI loans to be used for refinancing homes already owned by veterans.

Fitzgerald also pointed out that veterans from World War II and the Korean Conflict who did not use their home loan guarantees have now had those rights restored.

The new law makes provisions for the restoration of a veteran's VA guaranty once a mobile home is paid off. This makes it possible for a veteran to purchase a mobile home and then still be eligible for benefits for a conventional home in the future should he desire. The law also provides that loans for mobile homes may include funds for lots on which to locate the home.

The new law establishes a special home loan guaranty or a direct loan benefit to those veterans who have not used any of their $12,500 home loan guaranty eligibility, Fitzgerald pointed out.

The mobile homes may cost up to $10,000 or $17,500 if a lot is included. Different from conventional loans, the lending agency may require a down payment on mobile homes, but the VA will guarantee up to 30 percent of the mobile home loan secured by a veteran from lenders.

Fitzgerald said he expected many Michigan veterans to take advantage of the benefits to secure mobile homes.

Further information may be secured from the VA Regional Office, P.O. Box 1117-A, Detroit, Michigan 48222, or if the veteran lives in the Detroit area, he may visit the office at 801 W. Baltimore at Third.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN DOWN

Michigan's 1970 Christmas Seal campaign has reached $1,476,000 according to the eleventh week report of the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association. J. Irvin Nichols, executive director of the Association, said contributions are continuing to come in at a fairly steady pace but that the campaign was down almost $53,000 below where it was at this same time last year.

Although the economic situation in the last quarter of 1970, combined with the lateness of the mailing of the Christmas Seal appeal letters, tended to slow down the early returns to the Christmas Seal campaign, it is hoped that Michigan citizens will answer their appeal letters with generous contributions.

Christmas Seal funds provide for various anti-smoking adult and student education programs, withdrawal clinics, citizen action programs for clean air, seminars for professional persons which provide continuing education in the area of respiratory diseases, support of tuberculosis detection and control programs, research at Michigan's three leading Universities, necessary funds for hospitals to develop inhalation treatment clinics and much more.

As this is the major source of funds for the Michigan Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, Nichols urged all Michigan residents who have not yet answered their Christmas Seal appeal letter to do so soon so that the work of the Association can continue without danger of setback. He said an effort will be made to reach those residents who have not responded to the appeal letter and ask that their contribution be mailed as early as possible.

SILVER WEDDING OBSERVED JAN. 20

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Blaine were guests of honor at a dinner party, on the occasion of their Silver Wedding Anniversary, Wednesday, Jan. 20th. The affair was hosted by the Just Us Club and their husbands.

A color scheme of red and white was chosen, and the table was centered with a double-heart shaped anniversary cake decorated with red roses, guarded on either side by red candles in silver holders. A money tree, which was a gift from the group, ornamented a smaller table.

A lovely buffet dinner was served, after which the evening was spent socially, and on departure the honored guests were wished many more years of happiness together.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine were also honored at a small family dinner at the Arrowhead Inn earlier in the month, given by Mrs. Wilhelm Raab.

County Credit Union Declares Dividend

The Crawford County Federal Credit Union declared a 2% dividend for 1970 at its regular meeting January 20. This will be paid according to accounts on hand December 5, 1970 unless all or part of the account was withdrawn later in the month.

This credit union was just organized in October 1968 and is declaring this dividend at the end of its second year of operation. Most credit unions are not able to declare a dividend before the third or fourth year of operation.

With the growth in deposits and loans during the past year, the board anticipates being able to pay a larger dividend percentage for 1971. Presently, employees of Bear Archery, Crawford AuSable Schools, Grayling Reel, The American Legion and Bill Scheer Chevrolet have payroll deduction privileges for the credit union for making deposits or repaying loans.

All members of the Crawford County Federal Credit Union must be living or working in Crawford County. Presently the credit union has a membership of 221 depositors.

(wives and children) of retired workers and 63 dependents of disabled social security beneficiaries. Also, 251 survivors of workers who had paid into the Social Security system before their death are receiving monthly benefits.

Mr. Wiles pointed out the increase in benefit payments in the years 1961 thru the current report. In 1961 606 people were receiving social security benefits as compared to the latest figure showing 1129 beneficiaries. The amount of benefits had increased from the 1961 monthly total of $39,897.00 to $114,100.00 in 1970.
